The wide offer of the Alpine and cross country ski stations, and the wide variety and quality of complementary ski and leisure activities, make the Principality the white destination of renown each winter. The country offers three Alpine ski stations in two ski areas Grandvalira (Pas de la Casa–Grau Roig and Soldeu–El Tarter) and Vallnord (Ordino–Arcalís and Pal–Arinsal Mountain Park) which together amount to 177 slopes, and some 284.5 skiable kilometres, 110 mechanical lifts, 700 contracted monitors and 1385 snow cannons which guarantee the practise of white sports throughout the whole season and all of this in an area of no more than 468 km².

This wide offer, together with Naturlandia-La Rabassa and Parador Canaro, make Andorra a white paradise.

If you are looking for other winter sensations, you can also take walks in snowshoes at night or in the day, dog sleigh excursions, igloo building, descents in snow bicycles, telemark, outings in snow bikes and even ice-skating in the ice rink of Canillo and Naturlàndia.

Go on a shopping spree and finish the day by enjoying the magnificent thermal baths of Caldea!
